THERAPEUTIC HORSE RIDING A NATURAL THERAPY FOR DISABLED PEOPLE

The joint travel of a man with a horse began many thousand years ago and it still goes on. The external world changes, the civilisation development limits it greatly in time and space, but luckily, the horse's nature does not change. Contrary to the appearances, the human nature has not changed, either. What changed, are conditions in which the man comes to develop, to grow up and live in our times. The civilisation revolution we witness changes all our life. The greatest changes, however, take place in life of the youngest representatives of the society, and certain dangers are related to it.
